

Leon me for new exhaust systems

New high-quality exhausts for popular models such as the Seat Leon have been added to Klarius' emission control range this month. All are available now for distribution partners in the UK, France, Germany and Scandinavia.

Joining the current line-up of over 10,000+ individual parts is an exhaust system for the 2010 to 2012 model of the Seat Leon, among further additions for other common VAG group applications such as the Audi A3, the Skoda Octavia and the Volkswagen Passat 1.6 and 2 litre.

Crossovers get some attention too, with new exhausts now available for the first-generation Volvo XC60. Klarius has always aimed to support light commercial vehicles too, which is why new exhausts for the Renault Master and Vauxhall Movano 2.3 for models 2010 onwards also make an appearance.

Klarius delivers high levels of product quality by combining R&D, testing and manufacturing facilities in-house. Each part is specifically designed to offer equivalent performance to the OEM item, which is why Klarius components are often specified to support repairs in the OES sector. Every new part comes with a 2-year warranty, full type-approval and a Fit First Time guarantee.

Dynamic stocking procedures at on-site warehousing facilities ensure availability for both popular and less common vehicle applications. This is further supported by next morning delivery in the UK enabled by Klarius' in-house distribution partner, AutoLogistiks. Consequently, parts held on-site at Klarius can function as consignment stock for distributors, improving supply responsiveness and overall customer choice.
